

CAR SEAT SAFETY QUESTIONS? WE HAVE ANSWERS!

Q: I got my car seat from a rummage sale. Is it safe?

A: Probably not. A used car seat may be recalled-which means the maker found something wrong with it; too old-most car seats can only be used for 6 years; may be missing pieces or missing instructions; and/or it may have been in crash and cannot be re-used. A brand-new seat is the safest for your child.

Q: My baby is only 6 months old, but 20 pounds; can I flip him/her forward?

A: No. Babies must stay facing backwards until they are both 1 year and 20 pounds. Babies have heavy heads, fragile necks with flexible bones and a soft spine. If a baby is turned forward too soon and the car is in a crash: their body is held back by the straps, but the head is not. The head moves forward very quickly, which stretches the neck and spine causing the neck bones to actually separate. The baby could die or be permanently paralyzed.

Q: What is Wisconsin's car seat law?

A: Step 1: Rear facing in a car seat until 1 year AND 20 pounds.

Step 2: Forward facing in a car seat between 20 and 40 pounds.

Step 3: Booster seat between 40 and 80 pounds and under 57 inches.

Step 4: Seat belt when 80 or more pounds and over 57 inches.
